General Provisions

- Under this document, “loan” means the loan types envisaged by the Retail Lending Terms and Conditions of the Bank.
- The changes specified in this document are made based on the client’s application, subject to its approval in accordance with the Bank’s internal regulations.
- These fees apply to changes initiated by the client. The changes made in order to ensure the client’s performance of the condition subsequent established by the Bank are not considered as the client’s initiative.

4. The fees specified in this document do not apply to the automatically approved consumer loans secured by deposit, bonds and metal accounts in gold.
5. Where several fees are applicable due to change of several terms of the same loan as per the application submitted by the client, only the highest of them shall be charged, once.
6. To apply a fee(s) established by this document for modification of the same term for several loans, the total outstanding amount of those loans is considered.
7. The fee amount is rounded to AMD 1,000 in favor of the client and shall be no less than the minimum amount of the respective fee (if established by this document).
8. Where a new collateral or guarantor is added due to modification of a loan term(s), no fee is charged.
9. In case of lines of credit and overdrafts, the outstanding loan amount means the bigger of the used amount of the line of credit/overdraft and the line of credit/overdraft limit currently available to the client.
